The Cambridge-IFLP

aims at bringing 35-50 men and women in Islamic banking & finance, on middle and upper middle management positions, to the prestigious University of Cambridge, with a view to offer them an opportunity to become members of the most prestigious mentoring programme in Islamic banking & finance. The 5-day extensive leadership training will be given by well-established leadership and management gurus from around the world. The social networking event at the University of Cambridge will benefit from the presence of a number of mentors who are leading personalities in the global Islamic financial services industry.

Five most outstanding attendees will be chosen for Cambridge Islamic Finance Leadership Awards.

Leadership Workshop

along with interactive social activities and Leadership Activities, will allow the delegates to seek mentorships and develop relationships with the leaders in the Islamic finance services industry. Leadership can best be understood by studying and closely observing the leaders. Cambridge-IFLP aims to invite 5 leading personalities in the global Islamic finance services industry to share their perspective on leadership. The delegates will be able to interact with these leaders formally and informally. Leadership Talks cover wide range of topics and perspectives including structuring and product development, human resource development, and leadership perspectives.
